

Roger Wiemers, Ed.D.

Professor of Education Lipscomb University College of Education Nashville, Tennessee

Podcast Episode — Run Time 12:10 http://podcast.ayersinstitute.org

"Our Messy Lives Teach Us Grace."

Professional Biography

Roger Wiemers was born in San Antonio and has lived in several states and countries around the world doing missions combined with education. He is a professor in the College of Education at Lipscomb University. Previously, he worked 15 years for Tennessee State University as a professor and director of doctoral programs in education. He enjoys teaching and has a love for the philosophical and reflective approaches to teaching and learning.

Lessons Learned

- ➤ Be genuine. Kindergarteners through doctoral students see through a hypocrite!
- ➤ Develop relationships. We all learn and grow when we can relate!
- ➤ I am not the expert on my subject. Keep learning!

Favorite Resources

Using an inquiry-based learning approach, Dr. Wiemers likes to use books and resources that may not be directly related to education.

- ➤ The Moral Imagination by John Paul Lederach https://tinyurl.com/y97su2tz
- Contemporary Leadership and Intercultural Competence: Exploring the Cross-Cultural Dynamics Within Organizations by Michael Moodian — https://tinyurl.com/y9jl2a2s
- ➤ Learning to Do: Values for Learning and Working Together in a Globalized World a UNESCO sourcebook used for training https://tinyurl.com/y89rfhd2

Favorite education-related books:

- ➤ Educational Leadership: Culture and Diversity by Dimmock and Walker https://tinyurl.com/ybmk9shg
- Reframing the Path to School Leadership by Bolman and Deal https://tinyurl.com/yataxtlo

(F)

